FAIRCHILD'S GOLDEN AGE - By: ALAN ABEL A young Sherman Fairchild quit college in 1917 to start a company to build aerial cameras. After 3 years, Fairchild built the first successful large, high-speed between-the-shutter camera that was a major breakthrough in aerial photographic technology. Fairchild found airplanes of the day not suitable for the photographic mission. Sherman decided to build one himself. During the design of the plane, Fairchild decided to build a multi-purpose plane suitable for other piloting needs and to market these airplanes to the public. P/N 13-06177 $24.95

HOWARD'S GOLDEN AGE EARTHALL - After building four of the most successful and famous air racers in the world, in the 1930s, Pete, Mike, Ike and Mr. Mulligan, Benny Howard’s fame increased with each passing year. With such notoriety, Benny was able to realize his dream -- that of manufacturing and selling a grand new airplane to the flying public throughout the world. Howard was also a highly acclaimed test pilot, having tested many aircraft for several aircraft manufacturers during his career. This Benny Howard story is a story of struggle, fame, fortune, love, depression, failure and success. P/N 13-06178 $24.95

LUSCOMBE'S GOLDEN AGE - By John Swick Luscombe's Golden Age is the fifth book in The Golden Age of Aviation Series. THE PIETENPOL STORY BY CHET PEEK - During the Great Depression Bernard Pietenpol wanted desperately to fly, but could not afford to buy a plane. So he built his own, a simple wood and fabric monoplane powered by a Model A Ford engine. When the "Experts" in the Modern Mechanics magazine declared such a plane could not fly, he piloted his home-made masterpiece to their Minneapolis headquarters and proved them wrong. Impressed by the plane's clever design and gentle flying characteristics, they subsequently published his plans in their Flying and Glider Manual. Over the next years thousands of copies were built, and they are still being crafted worldwide today. P/N 13-06187 $21.95
