NOMEX AVIATOR'S SUMMER FLYING GLOVES

GLOVE SIZING

Hold your hand out with your fingers together and thumb extended out. Start measuring palm from between the index finger and thumb, continue around the outside of the palm and back around on the inside of the palm making a complete circle with the measuring tape. Total inches around entire palm determines the size glove you will need.

NOMEX TOUCH SCREEN COMPATIBLE FLYING GLOVES

These are the same as the regular Flying Gloves which have been worn by American military aviators since the 1960's, except these have a conductive fabric sewn into the tips (of both the left and right glove) of the middle finger, index finger, and thumb to allow for use with touch screen devices. The palms are made from soft capeskin (hair sheep) that gives you the fine sense of touch you need for flying. The back is made from soft knit of fire-resistant aramid fiber that stretches so the gloves fit snugly. They remain soft and pliable when they get wet. You can even wash them in warm water and hand soap. Measure in inches around the fullest part of your palm. Order the size closest to your hand measurement. Gloves stretch a little, so the fit should be snug.
