

SEAT BELTS & SHOULDER HARNESSSES

FAA CERTIFIED PERSONAL RESTRAINTS

These are top quality, new manufactured assemblies. They are designed, manufactured, and proof tested to rigid FAA standards. All belts use proven lift to release style Davis metal to metal buckles. Push-to-release buckles are not used due to difficulties in releasing under emergency conditions. Aircraft quality alloys and 2-inch nylon webbing are used throughout. Belts are certified to FAA TSO-C22f.

STYLE NO. 1A SEAT BELT

Most popular metal-to-metal seat belt. This 56" adjustable seat belt offers a heavy-duty combination of an all-nylon 2" wide herringbone webbing and a metal-to-metal "quick release" buckle. Buckle mates with harness adapters (Shoulder Harness Items 3B or 3C) for safety belt/harness set or use belt alone. The end fittings for each side of the lap belt have a .325 in. dia. hole which allows for a fastener/bolt to slide through, depending on the design of the aircraft/aircraft seat is where it attaches.

STYLE NO. 2A SEAT BELT

If belts are needed to replace worn ones in an aircraft in which the attachment fittings have been installed and approved, it is customary to install belts with a slide adjustment bar which permits weaving webbing through existing fitting and through bar for secure installation. Drawing shows correct method of lacing the webbing through bar. Belt is 56" long x 2" wide. The end fittings for each side of the lap belt have a .325 in. dia. hole which allows for a fastener/bolt to slide through, depending on the design of the aircraft/aircraft seat is where it attaches.
